It should be noted that this will be the last report under the title "Family Court of Lucas County." On January 5, 1977, a new and separate Juvenile Court was created by the Legislature. Judge Devine was elected to fill this new judgeship. Judge Galvin was elected to serve in the Domestic Relations Division and Judge Robert Dorrell was appointed to fill the vacancy created by the death of Judge Robert Foster, also in the Domestic Relations Division.

To the Honorable James Holzemer
To the Honorable Max Reddish
To the Honorable Francis Szollosi
Commissioners of Lucas County
And to the Ohio Youth Commission
William K. Willis, Director

Dear Sirs:

In compliance with Section 2151.18 General Code, we submit herewith the Annual Report of the Court of Common Pleas of Lucas County, Ohio, Division of Domestic Relations, which includes the Juvenile Court, covering the calendar year 1976, showing the number and kinds of cases that have come before it, and other data pertaining to the work of the Court of interest to you and the general public.

Respectfully submitted,

ANDY DEVINE
JUNE GALVIN
ROBERT DORRELL
Judges

September, 1977

Annual Report Dedicated To Robert R. Foster

Devotion to mankind is a small pebble among the numerous qualities we all knew in Judge Robert R. Foster.

To begin a remembrance of Judge Robert R. Foster we would be engulfed in a large ray of compassion, as he truly dedicated his life to serving the community. Judge Foster was a participant in our society who made things function. Many of his accomplishments will be remembered by juveniles who received his continued support in creating new aims and building a new life style in the community in which they live.

The Family Court Center will remain enriched by the loyalty, ideals and philosophy he designated as an inspiration for achievement.

In short, Robert R. Foster was our friend. His objectivity provided the pathway he unfolded as an excellent jurist.

Juvenile Traffic Report

A comparison of the statistics compiled for the year 1975 and 1976 shows only a slight reduction in the number of traffic complaints filed in 1976.

Although the reduction is not as significant as the period 1974 to 1975, nevertheless the downward trend in complaints is reflective of a more careful driving attitude on the part of juveniles in direct response to vigorous law enforcement and tough court action.

In years gone past all juvenile traffic offenders and parent(s) had to make a personal appearance before a referee regardless of the charge. Effective January 1, 1977 the juvenile court has set up a Traffic Violations Bureau which *will allow first offenders of certain violations* to waive the appearance and pay the fine and costs.* (Note: Parental appearance with juvenile is still required.)

This system was set up to facilitate the handling of relatively minor traffic offenses thus giving court personnel more time to deal with the more serious juvenile traffic offenders.

David R. Taylor, III, Referee

*The following violations require an appearance before a referee: driving while intoxicated, reckless driving, leaving the scene of an accident, driving while under suspension or revocation of driver's license, driving without a license, failure to stop for school bus, eluding or fleeing a police officer, drag racing, when officer marks the ticket "Personal appearance required," where an accident is involved, second moving violation within 12 months and indictable offenses.

Direct Probation Subsidy Program Lucas County Juvenile Court

The Direct Probation Subsidy Program of the Lucas County Family Court Center, is an Intensive Services Unit designed to deal with "high risk" clients moving through the criminal justice system of the Juvenile Court. Our goal has been and is to reduce juvenile crime within the community and at the same time reduce commitments to the Ohio Youth Commission, by interacting with our clients, on an intense, individual basis.

This Subsidy Program is a pilot project, which began in July of 1973, and is presently moving into its fifth year of operation. Lucas County is one of four major counties receiving grants from LEAA funding and administered through the Ohio Youth Commission. Our grant this fiscal year amounts to $59,000.00 and covers staff and administrative costs, along with supportive services and operational expenses.

Our Direct Probation Subsidy staff includes: Acting Coordinator-Counselor George Ryan; three Probation Counselors, Ann Holzemer, Mary Johnson and Michael Walsh; one Employment Counselor-Specialist, Larry Bliesner; and our valued secretary, Moneta Hopkins. We will be adding a fourth Counselor to the program, Catherine Champion, effective August 1, 1977. Mrs. Champion's appointment to the Unit will allow this writer to devote full time to the coordination of planning, programming, and development of the Probation Subsidy Program. Ms. Theresa Mohler will be filling the position of Community Resources Counselor, that had been held by Ms. Nancy Frey who left the employ of the Court in March of 1977. We look forward to the addition of Ms. Mohler who has been employed with the Court in the past.

The basic philosophy of our Direct Probation Subsidy Program continues to be one of providing consistent, quality, intensive counseling for each client, individualized and tailored to meet that client's particular problems and needs. With this in mind, the program provides a number of ancillary services, both within the unit and through agencies and individuals that we contract with.

As we are presently in fourth year funding of $59,000.00, reduced from the original amount of $116,000.00, we have undergone a great deal of self-analysis and evaluation to determine what services are the most valuable in meeting community and clients' needs. With this in mind we have decided to utilize the particular professional talents of each Subsidy staff member in dealing with our clients. Some of these skills and knowledge include family therapy, peer group counselling, parent study groups, multiple counselling, remedial reading skills, and, of course, individual therapy. If we come in contact with a complex case, that is obviously beyond the services we provide, we will, at this point, refer the case to one or more of the outside consultants that we contract with.

In conclusion of this report and the fiscal year we feel that, as the Direct Probation Subsidy staff, we are providing a unique, yet uniform, high quality service to the majority of clients and families that we come in contact with. Over and beyond this fact, we feel that we have greatly professionally matured, and serve as a model and viable resource not only to the Lucas County Juvenile Court, but to our community as well. We look forward to the continuation of our grant and the Direct Probation Subsidy program.

George J. Ryan, Acting Coordinator

Probation Services

I. Personnel

As of December 31, 1976, the staff of Probation Services included an administrator, three casework supervisors, a probation subsidy coordinator, 27 probation counselors and six secretarial-clerical persons. The total of 27 probation counselors includes two foster home recruiter-evaluators, one group home counselor, and four counselors assigned to Probation Subsidy. During 1975, four new counselors joined the staff. The new counselors replaced those who had left the court for other career advancements and directions.

The probation subsidy coordinator and four counselors, operate the Probation Subsidy Unit financed through the Ohio Youth Commission with federal monies. This unit seeks through intensive services to reduced recidivism. A separate report of their activities is included.

The Volunteer Probation Counselor Program is now in its fifth year. A volunteer coordinator (recruitment and training) and a volunteer probation counselor-supervisor serve this developing program.

II. Training and Orientation

Each new probation counselor received initial orientation from his/her supervisor. Continuing orientation and counsel for each probation counselor is provided by the supervisors and Administrator of Probation.

The probation counselors have a counselors' organization which holds periodic meetings to discuss mutual problems and to make suggestions and proposals to the administrator. Meetings are also held between the counselors and the administrator. At these meetings, problems, policy, and program are discussed.

In 1976, probation counselors attended meetings and conferences sponsored by various organizations, including the Ohio Youth Commission, Ohio Corrections and Court Services Association, Toledo Area Association of Correctional Workers, Regional Planning Unit of Toledo-Lucas County, Criminal Justice Training and Education Center of Northwest Ohio, and the Adler Institute of Chicago, Illinois.

III. Student Field Training Experience

In 1976 a total of 17 students were assigned to the Court as student probation counselors. The students were from the University of Toledo, Bowling Green State University, Owens Technical College, and the Community and Technical College of the University of Toledo. This student assignment was for a period of one or two academic quarters and it is an accredited field work placement. Each student spends at least one day a week observing and working with an experienced probation counselor. The program is a valuable learning experience for the student and also serves as a fine employee source for the Court.

IV. Agency-Coordination

The Court continues to have the assistance and cooperation of other agencies in handling the numbers of children that come through the Court. This assistance is appreciated and is in line with the growing concept of community treatment and diversion from the justice system. The Children Services Board and Catholic Social Services are especially thanked for their consistent and capable help throughout the year. As of

December 31, 1976 a total of 139 children were under the supervision of agencies, having been referred to them by the Court.

At this time the momentum within the justice system is being directed towards removing the status offenders (unruly children) from the Court supervision. During 1976 cooperative planning between the Court and the Children Services Board has resulted in a program whereby status offenders are served by the Children Services Board being diverted to them by the Court. The program became functional in the fall of 1976. The projected results are fewer unruly cases in Court, casework services for these children by Children Services Board, and the Court's concentrating in resolving delinquency matters expeditiously and effectively.

V. Placement Services

Given the continuing inflationary spiral, the cost of placing children has risen significantly. Thus, placements are more and more selective and the numbers of children placed, limited.

As of January 1, 1976 there were 15 children in private school placement under Court auspices, 7 boys and 8 girls. As of December 31, 1976 a total of 18 children were in school placement, 11 boys and 7 girls. During 1976 a total of 21 children, 5 boys and 16 girls, terminated their placement in private schools and a total of 24 children, 9 boys and 15 girls, were placed in private school settings.

Regarding foster homes as of January 1, 1976, a total of 15 children were in foster home placement, 5 boys and 10 girls. As of December 31, 1976, a total of 19 children were in foster homes, 8 boys and 11 girls. During the course of the year a total of 31 children, 12 boys and 19 girls, were placed in foster homes and 27 children, 9 boys and 18 girls, terminated their foster home placement.

Institutions accepting placements from the Court during the past year included Cummings School, Florence Crittenton, Father Flanagan's Boys Town, Starr Commonwealth for Boys, Rosemont School, Wernle School, Buckeye Boys Ranch, White's Institute, the YWCA Transition Program for Girls, Dayton Children's Psychiatric Hospital and Syntaxis.

Child Study Institute

The success of any activities program is in direct proportion to the degree of cooperation which is achieved by the people involved in it. The activities program for the Child Study Institute encompassed professional as well as lay people from the community working hand-in-hand with our own professional staff. Even though this created, at times, a most heterogeneous blend of talents, abilities, and interests, these people were able to accomplish their goals of instructing, educating, and providing recreational outlets for the children in detention. This was possible because of the total commitment made by the people from the community, the high degree of cooperation exhibited by our staff members, and the sincere interest of everyone involved in the youth of our area. For this reason, we wish to express our appreciation to all those involved in the 1976 activities program for making it a success.

The YWCA continued their program with the girls by providing a professional staff person for a weekly activity. In addition, a full-length movie was shown to both boys and girls once a month. The staff at the YWCA are in the process of expanding the present weekly program to include suggestions and aids to basic cosmetology, dress, and other activities to assist the girls in grooming and hygiene. The follow-up program began in 1974 continued with volunteers working through probation counsellors and parents in keeping contact with some of the girls following their release from CSI. The follow-up program is seen as one way of helping to decrease the number of girls who return to CSI after their release due to repeated contact with the law.

Street Ministry of Toledo, an interdenominationally sponsored agency, began a new program for the girls in October of 1976. The program consists of informal and formal recreation, crafts, needlework, and other activities. Activities are conducted by volunteers and staff of the agency with follow-up contacts being made with the girls either at home or in the institution or setting in which they are placed after their release.

The Boys' Club, as well as opening their new more centrally-located facility, continued their program, completing their third year of involvement with CSI. Each Tuesday, a Boys' Club Professional conducts an activities session, emphasizing skills and games which are not a part of the day-o-day leader-directed recreation periods. The program is a special treat for the boys, but it also gives them a first hand experience of what club activities are all about, as well as a closer relationship to Boys' Club Professionals. This can be very important as often a youth, when released from CSI, needs a place to go to become gradually absorbed back into society. Because of Boys' Club involvement in CSI, many boys join the club and become involved in constructive after-school activities. We believe that the Boys' Club's cooperative effort has been beneficial to many youths.

During the school year, the Toledo-Lucas County Library sends one of its bookmobiles, staffed by three librarians, to the CSI for a weekly late-afternoon library program. This staff utilizes books from the branches as well as the bookmobile to help round out the rather limited number of volumes that we have shelved in our cafeteria-library. Bringing in special requests, aiding in the selection of books, and motivating the children to read are all a part of this activity. We are awaiting final confirmation of a proposal submitted by the T-LC Library which will greatly expand our collection of books. During the summer months, when school is not in session, this same staff provides a similar program during the morning. We greatly appreciate the flexibility of the library staff which enables us to utilize their services during time periods which are mutually convenient. Following the library period, the children are allowed to take the selections of their choice back to their sections for perusal during their free time. It has been noted by our staff that reading interest among the children has risen a great deal since the library staff initiated the present program.

The Toledo Board of Education again provided the support and staffing of the Lottie S. Ford School, located on the second floor of the CSI. The staff, consisting of Joe Christen, teaching principal, Stephen Kolinski, high school teacher, and Miss Judy Cremean, grade school teacher, holds class on the same hour-calendar basis as the Toledo Public Schools. Through the efforts of these people many children were able to earn school credit during their stay here.

Ceramics classes were conducted by Joanne Shapler and June Taylor, ceramics instructors. These ladies provide classes for all boys and girls, enabling the children to become involved in all phases of ceramics from pouring slip into the mold through the finish glazing. The children are then allowed to present the completed project to their parents.

The League of City Mothers provided additional aid to the programming in the form of athletic equipment and crafts supplies. This organization, along with the Ladies of Charity and the Catholic War Veteran Auxiliary, also furnished parties and treats for the children on some of the special holidays during the year.

We wish to thank the following community agencies who conducted active programming in CSI during 1976 and are continuing their efforts: League of City Mothers, Exchange Club, YWCA, Street Ministry of Toledo, Boys' Club, Toledo-Lucas County Library, Toledo Federation of Musicians, Toledo and Lucas County Boards of Education, Toledo Health Department, Toledo Area Big Brothers, Toledo University, Medical College of Ohio, Toledo and Lucas County Safety Council, Toledo Catholic Charities, Ladies of Charity, Catholic War Veterans Auxiliary Post 639, Toledo Society for the Blind, Questor Corporation, First National Bank, and Toledo Council of Churches,

Medical Department Report

The medical department, consisting of a pediatrician and three nurses, provides medical care and medical examinations for incoming and live-in children. The medical staff conducts daily health clinics and is on 24-hour call for any emergency service. All incoming children are screened for illness and contagious diseases, with isolation procedures and treatment given as needed.

Complete medical examinations, routine and special laboratory tests are done where indicated or requested. These records are available to Court officials, counselors, interested agencies and private physicians. Follow-up care of medical problems is available through excellent cooperation of physicians, medical and various social agencies.

Venereal diseases, dental problems and respiratory diseases continue to lead the list of diseases encountered in the Child Study Institute population.

Psychiatrist's Annual Report

The year 1976 saw a continuation of the nationwide trend toward a change in the basic philosophy underlying the management of youthful offenders. This change began in 1967 with the decision of the U.S. Supreme Court in re Gault. This decision, along with those in the Winship and Kent cases, among others, led to increased emphasis on the legal rights of the juvenile offender. The overall result has been in part to shift the focus away from the social service aspects of the Juvenile Justice System, and toward the legal aspects. This shift has taken place to varying degrees and at varying rates in different parts of the country. Some states have even seen the introduction of a jury into hearings for those sixteen or older, while others have made referrals to Adult Court automatic for those of this age who have committed the more serious type of offenses.

This trend toward a more legalistic approach to the juvenile, is developing concurrently with another trend emerging in Lucas County in 1976. This second factor is the decriminalization of status offenses. (Status offenses are those behaviors which would not be considered offenses if engaged in by adults, such as being ungovernable, keeping late hours, school truancy, runaway, etc.) A third phenomenon must also be considered. Over the past several years, the quality and seriousness of juvenile anti-social behavior has been worsening. More aggressive and violent sorts of offenses are being perpetrated by increasingly younger children.

These three factors are altering the function of the court psychiatrist. With the absence of the status offender, the workload is a little lighter, since the great bulk of these children are being evaluated and cared for by community agencies. However, those status offenders still referred to the psychiatrist are more disturbed, more difficult to diagnose, and harder to place for treatment. This latter statement may also be made of those who commit the more serious offenses, and proportionally more of them are being seen. They also must frequently be seen at an earlier stage in the court procedure, as a long overdue attempt is being made to lessen the time between the commission of an offense and the disposition of the offender. For the psychiatrist, this frequently means examining children who are more severely disturbed than was formerly the case, with less background knowledge about the child, available at the time of evaluation.

Another trend which seems to be surfacing, is an increase in the frequency with which attorneys are requesting psychiatric examination for their young clients. In general, this seems to reflect a deep concern on the part of the attorney for the welfare of the youngster. Unfortunately, it would appear that a small number of attorneys are carrying over tactics from adult court, and seemed to be using the request for examination as a ploy to gain time to soften the shocking aspect of the offenses. It also would appear from the nature of some requests, that certain attorneys maintain a "get the client off at all costs" attitude. It is sometimes difficult for these people to realize that there are times that a youthful offender's interests are served by making him face the responsibility of accepting the consequences of having committed an offense, a responsibility which has not been previously been accepted because of the attitude of over-protective parents.

One other point should be stressed in this report. The court and the psychiatrist do not operate in a social vacuum. Rising costs, which have plagued us all so sorely, have operated to make placement in private residential treatment centers an impossibility for all but a very few youngsters. At the same time, we are being faced with the threat that the adolescent unit of the Toledo Mental Health Center may be closed by administrative fiat from Columbus. For those families who do not have hospitalization insurance, there is no other emergency treatment available in this area for their youngsters. Out-patient therapy for those who might be able to utilize this form of treatment, is also in extremely scant supply. We are fortunate that the Medical College is able to take a few of our youngsters in treatment, but the county as a whole expends a miniscule amount of money on mental health services for adolescents, while the need grows ever greater.

To end on a happier note, the Child Study Institute continues to assist in the training of residents in psychiatry from the Medical College of Ohio. I am happy to report that three of the residents, who have participated in this program, are currently teaching at the Medical College, while a fourth is heading a child guidance clinic in Michigan. Such experiences strengthen both the Medical College and the Juvenile Court.

Department of Psychology Report

Some significant changes have taken place in the referral procedures for evaluations which greatly streamlined our paper work in this department. Very often nowadays, instead of waiting for counselors to do their investigation of the home and into the background of youngster, a referee will request a psychological evaluation immediately after an adjudication hearing has been held; thus, often no written social history exists. This places the burden of a pre-testing conference upon the shoulders of the counselor and psychologist to clarify matters and as it happens, it is a turn for the better, because there is no substitute for eyeball-to-eyeball discussions even in this electronic age of ours.

Another major change concerns the elimination of most of the status offenders. However, serious first offenders have been on the increase during the past three years so that there is no abatement in our work load. We have not only petty theft, or car theft, but more aggravated burglaries among boys who have never been to CSI before and more purse snatchers among girls than we used to have. This is the generation of the late fifties and early sixties and whether or not the seriousness of the first offense is a result of "the violent sixties" is a matter for social psychologists to interpret.

Besides our usual sources of referrals consisting of our Honorable Judge, Andy Devine, probation counselors, referees, agency case-workers, or even the parents themselves (a request which is invariably granted), we have referrals from custody referees and Domestic Relations counselors as well. The latter is not unusual, since unfortunately many youths who come to CSI have parents who visited the divorce courts before their child landed in CSI.

Our usual work has been carried on, also, in the capacity of acting as consultants to group home parents and also in the entire procedure of referring, screening, and staffing youngsters for group home placement.

In all, our department had 424 complete diagnostic psychological evaluations or re-evaluations during the year, including consultation and staffing reports as well.

We find, from our many talks with parents and children, and from our observations, that CSI fulfills a strange need in the community. Of course we do have the obligation to keep Toledo safe from youngsters who are dangerous to its peace and safety, but additionally, we find that parents often bring a child here and ask us to play the role of the tough, harsh, even punitive parent; then they go home, feel guilty, and eventually come to tell the child that it was "The Court" who treated them harshly or even unfairly while they, at home, are loving and caring parents. There are many unfortunate nuances in this drama but perhaps the most serious one is that "loving" and "caring" is equated with "permissive," and the above then becomes a re-enactment of a game that the parents have been playing for years, prior to the time when the child landed in CSI. The parents are so anxious to make sure that the child will love them, that they become over-permissive and over-indulgent. The time has come for the parents to understand that a good parent is one who lays down reasonable rules and sets realistic limits, always with a certainty of emphasizing and showing their great love, but adhering to rules nevertheless, not over-rigidly but still with firmness and fairness. All this requires strength. We wish the parents of Toledo much inner strength.

Domestic Relations Division

During 1976 the Lucas County Domestic Relations Division continued to require under Ohio Statutory law, as within the discretion of the Court, that an investigation be made in matters of the termination of marriage "as to the character, family relations, past conduct, earning ability and financial worth of the parties to the action". These investigations are made in all cases where there are children under fourteen years of age and alimony or the termination of the marriage through either an action for dissolution of marriage or divorce is before the Court. A trained professional staff of the Domestic Relations Department offers various counseling and referral services covering family problems to the citizens of Lucas County before they file a Court action, while an action is pending, and after reconciliation, dissolution or divorce.

Eve Kemp Richards headed the Domestic Relations Department with distinction for nearly twenty years. She retired from this service in mid-summer 1976. Counselor Philip Halloran was acting administrator until the new administrator was appointed to assume the duties on December 1st.

As can be noted in the tables which are a part of this report, the major change was in the handling of termination of marriages from contested divorces, to uncontested divorces and dissolutions of marriage. In the year 1974 dissolutions were 5% of filings for termination of marriage; in 1975 they were up to 26% and in 1976 they amounted to 34%. Due to the newness of the act allowing for dissolutions of marriage in Ohio, the figure of 3% of actions in 1974 does not appear to reflect a true perspective. However, dissolutions amounting to 34% of total terminations in 1975 and 48% in 1976 do appear to indicate the present trend. The number of contested divorce actions has diminished from 41% of the terminations granted in 1974 to 36% in 1975 and 27% in 1976. Of the total number of cases before the Court for termination of marriage those which were filed as dissolutions in both 1975 and 1976 were only approximately 8% dismissals. Reconciliations as indicated by dismissal of divorce actions increased from 52% in 1974 to 53% in 1975 and 56% in 1976.

When considering statistics in the Domestic Relations area it should be noted that some couples have more than one action filed and dismissed within a year, and dismissals of divorce are sometimes followed by actions for dissolution.

Table No. 2 notes domestic relations actions. Tables Nos. 3, 4, 5, and 6 are representative of the work load in the Domestic Relations Department. With the change from a higher total load of contested cases and uncontested divorce cases to nearly 50% of the cases terminated being dissolutions it is difficult to relate to years before the dissolution act, however, considering that department staff was one counselor below the usual number due to the administrator's retirement and to staff changes, the work load was equivalent to prior years.

Tables 8 and 9 will be of interest to those people concerned about the preservation of the family. They indicate social changes, that dissolutions are rapidly becoming the preferred termination of marriage manner of the day. Unfortunately many of those persons who go through with rapid dissolutions feel afterwards that a longer waiting period might have been advantageous, and that more preparation for the dissolution in both emotional and financial matters would have been helpful.

Further consideration and development of methods and services for this group of people who seek dissolutions together with all who file divorce petitions are being given by the counseling department of the Lucas County Court of Domestic Relations. Many agencies, service clubs, and churches are concerned about the welfare, dependency, delinquency, and public expense, as well as the human suffering involved when families are broken.

The following tables here briefly reviewed suggest the efforts made and the results achieved in protecting the feelings and the hope of children, families, and individuals; they imply the close relationship which exists between counselors and attorneys as officers of the Court as they work with the Judicial Division of the Court furthering the best interest of citizens and the community at large.

Assignment Commissioner's Report

The office of the Assignment Commissioner is required by the Ohio Supreme Court Rules of Superintendence to record and digest statistics as presented in the following manner. Pursuant to this directive, our office submits twelve monthly reports and an annual report to the Ohio Supreme Court for use in compiling statistics from Ohio's 88 counties.

In order to show overall growth patterns in the domestic area, we have presented the 1976 figures as they relate to the earlier years of 1974 and 1975. Most notably, our figures indicate a net decrease in actions filed in 1976 as contrasted to actions filed in 1975 in the amount of 269 cases. The decrease is primarily a result of the reduction in divorce, alimony, and annulment complaints filed in 1976 in the amount of 538 less than the number of these complaints filed in 1975. The number of dissolution petitions filed in 1976, the second complete year for the hearing of these actions, increased by 269 over the number filed in 1975.

Assignment Commissioner
