JFS Programs & Services

Adult Protective Services (APS)

LCDJFS is required to investigate and evaluate all reports of suspected abuse, neglect, self-neglect, and exploitation of adults aged 60 and older. These adults may be handicapped due to aging, or they may have physical or mental impairments which prevent them from providing for their own care and protection. When funding and services are available, adults who experience abuse, neglect and/or exploitation are offered support for protection and self-sufficiency. As the elderly population increases, consequently reports have increased as well.

Abuse means the infliction upon an adult (by oneself or others) of injury, unreasonable confinement, intimidation, or cruel punishment with resulting physical harm, pain, or mental anguish.

Types of "Abuse" include:

- Physical;
- Sexual;
- Emotional; and/or
- Exploitative

"Neglect" means any of the following:

- Failure of an adult to provide for self the goods or services necessary to avoid physical harm, mental anguish, or mental illness.
- Failure of a caretaker to provide such goods or services.
- Abandonment.

Physical abuse includes pushing, hitting, slapping, pinching and other ways of physically harming a person. It can also mean incorrect positioning, force feeding, restraining, or giving medication without their knowledge. Sexual abuse includes rape or other unwanted sexual contact, but it can also mean forced or coerced nudity, exhibitionism, and other non-touching sexual situations. Exploitation is the unlawful or improper act of a caretaker using an adult or his resources for monetary or personal benefit, profit, or gain. Emotional abuse occurs when an elderly person is threatened, humiliated, intimidated, or otherwise psychologically hurt.

To report abuse call: 419-213-8663

Child Care Program

The Publicly Funded Child Care (PFCC):

Families whose income is at or below 145 percent of the federal poverty guideline may qualify to receive payment for all, or part, of their monthly childcare expenses incurred while participating in eligible work and training activities. For those with a disabled child, then the income must be at or below 150 percent of the federal poverty guideline. These percentages are for Initial Intake applications and the income limit increases at renewal for continued Child Care Benefits. Each renewal year, the household income must be at or below 300 percent of the federal poverty level (FPL). Family's experiencing homelessness may qualify for free childcare through this program.

Early Childhood Education:

The Ohio Department of Children and Youth oversees the Early Childhood Education (ECE) Grant, which is now processed by the local county JFS agencies. This program provides part-time early education options to Ohio families who are not eligible for the traditional Publicly Funded Child Care (PFCC). These customers must meet other eligibility requirements of the ECE program, but don't need to meet a qualifying work activity. While the ECE program is intended for children, ages 3–5, and whose family income falls at or below 200 percent of FPL, the following groups of children are eligible for ECE without regard to income:

- Children with an Individualized Education Plan (IEP)
- Children experiencing homelessness
- Children in Kinship or Foster care with a case plan
- Children who exited Early Intervention at age 3 and do not have an IEP

In addition, children who are actively receiving TANF, SNAP or Medicaid are presumptively eligible (PE) for ECE benefits as well.

To be explored for this program, a complete 7200-application is needed, with the childcare program selected from the list of services. (If a client already has an open case for publicly funded childcare, then they just need to contact their worker to see if they qualify for this program as well).

Child Care Choice Voucher Program (CCC)

This program exists to support families with paying for childcare, who are over income for the state's Publicly Funded Child Care (PFCC), and whose gross monthly income is between 146% – 200% of the Federal Poverty Level. This voucher program is part of a larger initiative focused on increasing access to quality childcare and financial support services for families towards childcare costs.

Will parents/guardians have a cost associated with the voucher?

Families may be required to pay a portion of the childcare cost and any other related childcare fees, if applicable, directly to the child care program/facility. The amount of the family's portion is determined by the program/facility, based on their current tuition costs and fees. The total cost of tuition (state paid voucher plus family's cost) may not exceed the provider's private rate. Inquire about co-pay responsibilities and availability to accept new children by reaching out to the childcare facility of your choice.

Ways to apply for Child Care benefits:

- Online at <https://ssp.benefits.ohio.gov> or,
 - Complete an application in person by visiting LCDJFS, 3737 W. Sylvania Ave., Toledo, OH 43623.
- (Printable applications available online at: www.lucasjfs.org > Resources > Forms and Applications)

Verifications necessary to determine Childcare program eligibility:

- Proof of Income;
- Proof of any child support paid;
- Proof of citizenship or qualified alien status for children in need of care;
- Proof of a qualifying activity for all caretakers in the household (e.g., work or school/training);
- Provide the name and address of an eligible Childcare provider for each child in need of care.

Parents may select any program approved to offer publicly funded childcare in Lucas County. These programs include centers, family childcare homes and in-home aides in the state of Ohio. The Providers receive payments directly from Ohio Department of Job & Family Services (ODJFS) so parents may work or attend approved school/training activities.

To submit verifications, please email: Lucas-Childcare@jfs.ohio.gov

Long Term Care Services (LTC)

Detailed information about Long Term Care Services and supports within the community are available at: www.benefits.ohio.gov/LTSS

- Nursing Home and Institutional Care – The best solution for someone with a severe disability or a fragile medical state may be a nursing facility. They provide care for individuals who cannot care for themselves at home and assist with daily living activities.
- Home and Community-Based Waiver Services – Home and community-based waivers are programs of in-home and community care that help Ohio Medicaid consumers remain at home instead of being in a nursing home, hospital, or facility for people with developmental disabilities.

Prevention Retention & Contingency (PRC) Program

The PRC Program is designed to provide benefits and services to low-income families to address a discrete crisis or episode of need, lessening the risk that the issue will create the need for additional supports/long-term benefits if it goes unaddressed (e.g., a broken-down car seriously impacts one's ability to maintain employment; fixing the car prohibits the issue from causing the loss of the job which would then require additional supports given the loss of income). PRC support is short-term and is not intended to meet ongoing needs. If eligible for PRC benefits, a voucher is issued for the service.

Who is Eligible?

The following criteria must be met to be deemed eligible for PRC. Note that some services also require employment at a minimum number of hours per week.

1. Minor child in the home or verified pregnancy.
2. Lucas County residency.
3. Household income must be at or below 200% Federal Poverty Level (FPL).
4. Some PRC services are also available to non-custodial parents of a minor child who live in Lucas County but in a separate household from the child.

Community Outreach

Community Outreach serves as an integral part of our presence in the community by ensuring that partners and county residents are aware of, and understand, the various programs and services available at LCDJFS. This is accomplished through immersion in the community, conducting forums, and coordinating meeting presentations for additional non-profits operating in Lucas County. Contracted Services

LCDJFS enters into contracts with organizations each year to provide social service programming to the populations it serves to further the goals of the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program and Title XX of the Social Security Act (TXX). For TANF, contracted services must be for families with minor children and must target at least one of the following:

2. Reduce the dependency of needy parents by promoting job preparation, work, and marriage.
3. Prevent out-of-wedlock pregnancies.
4. Encourage the formation and maintenance of two-parent families.

TXX Services do not require the presence of a minor child in the family and should be targeted at achieving at least one of the following federal TXX program goals:

1. Achieving or maintaining economic self-support to prevent, reduce, or eliminate dependency.
2. Achieving or maintaining self-sufficiency, including reduction or prevention of dependency.

Division of Child Support/ Child Support Enforcement Agency (CSEA)

The Lucas County Department of Job & Family Services Division of Child Support's mission is to assist in providing social, economic, and medical benefits to children, as well as promoting a sense of paternal responsibility, heritage, and self-esteem in families.

How Child Support can Help You

Ohio law requires each county to have its own Child Support Enforcement Agency (CSEA).

CSEA can help with the following:

- Establish paternity.
- Locate absent parents.
- Set up a child or medical support order.
- Collect child support.
- Review and adjust support orders.
- Access and Visitation Mediation: Both parents meet with a Mediator from Juvenile Court, at our agency, to develop a private parenting agreement.
- Reduction of Permanently Assigned Arrears (ROPAA): The obligor completes an application requesting that assigned arrears be waived or compromised.
- Forgiveness: The obligee submits request to forgive unassigned arrears.
- Account Correction: Either party may apply if they received SSI during the same timeframe as their support order.

CSEA cannot help with the following:

- Visitation and/or custody; both must be pursued through private action in the court.
- Legal advice: this must be provided by a private attorney or through Domestic or Juvenile Courts.
- Representation for the obligor or obligee at court hearings. Although the Division of Child Support will have attorneys present at court hearings, our attorney represents the agency and the State, not the individual obligor, obligee, or child(ren).
- Copies of Court Journal Entries. Domestic or Juvenile Court Orders can be obtained through the Clerk of Courts.
- Credit for direct payments not made through the CSEA. By law, direct payments are considered a gift. The parties can petition the Court to credit direct payments.
- Dictate or verify how support money is utilized (i.e., rent, utilities, food, clothing, etc.).
- Use an obligor's or obligee's current spouse's income when determining the support obligation. That person is not legally obligated to support your child.
- Spousal support issues not related to the collection and disbursement of payments.

CSEA Programs & Services

Paternity

Paternity means fatherhood. The first step in the child support process is to establish paternity by legally determining the child's father. Establishing paternity is in the best interest of the child(ren) and the parents. Parents should accept their share of the financial, legal, and emotional responsibility. When parents are not married, it is recommended that paternity be established legally. Either the child's mother or the potential father can make a request to establish paternity by contacting our agency.

CSEA can get involved in many ways if:

- The custodial parent or caregiver is on Public Assistance.
- You are a resident of Lucas County.
- We receive orders from Juvenile or Domestic Relations Court.
- We receive a petition from another state.

There are many reasons to establish paternity:

- Identity– All children have the right to know their mother and father.
- Security– Fathers who support their children are more likely to be involved in their lives. Studies have shown that children who do not have their fathers involved in their lives, result in greater risks of poverty, teen pregnancies, behavioral problems, abuse and neglect, infant mortality, drug abuse, imprisonment, obesity, committing crimes, and dropping out of high school.
- Health History– Your child has a right to know if he or she has inherited any special health problems.
- Financial Support– Legal paternity must be established for the CSEA to create a child support order.
- Survivor's Benefits– Legal paternity must be established for your child to qualify for benefits from their father's Social Security, pensions, veteran's benefits, life insurance, or inheritance rights.

There are four methods to establish paternity:

1. Affidavit– Acknowledgement of paternity signed at the hospital, health department or CSEA by both parents. Either party has up to 60 days from the date of the last signature on the form, to request and sign a rescission form at our agency and then request genetic testing. After 60 days they will have to file a motion on their own in court.
2. Administrative Order Based On Genetic Testing– A genetic test is performed on the parents and the child at the agency. It consists of swabbing the four quadrants of the mouth to collect buccal cell samples called DNA. The samples are sent to the lab where they are processed and then the results are sent back to the CSEA to interpret. The results are proof positive of either exclusion or establishment of paternity.
3. Judicial Order– We receive orders from court establishing paternity. Usually this is a result of parties filing a private motion on their own or mediation through the courts.
4. Presumption– When parties are married and a child is born during the marriage, the husband is considered the legal father.

Some Important Facts:

- If you are a minor, you must have a parent or legal guardian with you when you come to our agency.
- Our agency can establish paternity up to the age of 23. The only way we will establish paternity past this age is if we receive an order from the courts.
- If genetic testing is done, results can take up to 12 weeks to be received.
- If paternity is established by genetic testing and you would like the child's last name changed, both parties must agree, before completing a JFS O4070 form at the agency.
- If either party disagrees with the results, they can file a private motion in court.
- If you are receiving cash assistance through LCDJFS, you must cooperate with our agency to establish paternity.
- Potential fathers should register for the Putative Father Registry through the Ohio Department of Job & Family Services at www.jfs.ohio.gov. This protects the father regarding the adoption of the child. After paternity has been established, you have the right to seek financial support for your child and CSEA will do this by establishing a support order.

Establishment of Support Orders

Parents have a responsibility to support their children financially. Obtaining child support is important to your child(ren)'s well-being. A child support order sets the amount and type of support parents are required to provide for their child(ren).

If the child's parent, guardian, legal custodian, or the person with whom the child lives, considered the residential parent, would like assistance in establishing an order for the payment of child support and health care needs of the child(ren), they can contact their local CSEA.

Some Important Facts:

- We can establish support up to the age of 18.
- We cannot help with a divorce.
- The CSEA can also help establish a child support order, even if a parent does not live in Ohio.

For more information on establishing paternity and establishing a support order contact our office at 419-213-3001.

Location Services

If you do not know where a parent is living, your Division of Child Support can help. The CSEA has access to many sources of information and can use these records to find absent parents.

Child Support or Medical Support Order

Once paternity is established, the Division of Child Support can help set up child support and medical support orders. These orders may be issued in court by a judge or referee or at the CSEA by an Administrative Hearing Officer.

The child support order states the amount to be paid regularly by the non-custodial parent or obligor, this is the parent who does not have primary custody of the child. The child support will help offset some of the costs of raising the child. The amount of the order will be based on statewide guidelines.

The CSEA can also set up a medical support order which may require the non-custodial parent to obtain health insurance coverage for the child. Sometimes the order also covers the cost of giving birth.

Support Enforcement

Once there is a support order, the CSEA has multiple ways to enforce it:

- Child support can be taken directly from the income of the non-custodial parent. Child support can also be withheld from financial institutions. This process is called income (or wage) withholding.
- Child support can be taken from a non-custodial parent's worker's compensation, unemployment, pension funds, or other sources of income.
- Past due child support can be collected with an additional arrearage payment, from state or federal income tax refunds and other assets. Also, past due balances are reported to credit reporting agencies.
- The non-custodial parent may have no income or assets. If so, they can be ordered to Seek Work.

Support Collection

All child support payments, for Ohio children, go through the Ohio Child Support Payment Central (OCSPC) in Columbus, Ohio. Any payments made directly from one parent to another will be considered a gift. OCSPC has two business days to process and issue the payment electronically or via US Postal Service, to the custodial parent or obligee.

Reviewing & Adjusting Support Orders

The CSEA can review child support and medical support orders if either parent makes a request. Usually, the most recent order must be at least three years old before a modification can be accepted through the administrative review process. There are exceptions that permit earlier modifications.

Using state guidelines, the CSEA objectively reviews the information provided and then makes an independent recommendation on the amount of support that should be paid.

For more information on reviewing and adjusting support orders contact your child support agency by calling 419-213-3001 and speaking to a case manager.

Legal

The Lucas County Division of Child Support has full-time attorneys who work to establish and enforce support obligations. Two of the more common enforcement procedures include:

Motion to Show Cause

A Motion to Show Cause is filed when an obligor fails to abide by an order of the court to pay his/her monthly obligation for child support. The Motion will order the obligor to appear before a magistrate to show cause why the court order has not been followed. If the obligor cannot show good cause, the magistrate can find him/her in contempt.

Basic Requirements:

- Obligor must be at least 30 days in default.
- The CSEA is unable to locate any valid employment or attachable income source for the obligor.

Process

The obligee requests enforcement, then the case manager begins the enforcement process by attempting to locate employment and sending the obligor a warning. Address verification is obtained from the United States Postal Service which is a requirement for the Motion process to be completed. A Motion packet is completed and forwarded to the CSEA attorney for filing in court. Parties of the case are notified by court via certified mail of hearing date, time, and location.

If the court obtains good service on the obligor and the obligor fails to appear at the hearing, the CSEA Attorney can request the court issue a warrant for his/her arrest.

The process is relatively the same in both Domestic and Juvenile Courts. The time frame varies depending on the availability of the court dockets. In Domestic Relations Court the obligee requesting enforcement MUST attend the Motion hearing or risk the action being dismissed. In Juvenile Court, only the obligor in which the Motion has been filed against MUST attend the hearing.

What happens after the Motion to Show Cause Hearing?

If the obligor was found in contempt during the hearing, the obligor is given a way to remedy the contempt charge by making a purge agreement with the CSEA attorney and the court. The case is then set for a Motion to Execute Sentence hearing before a judge. During the hearing, the judge will review, with the CSEA attorney and obligor, whether the purge requirements have been fulfilled. If the obligor has fulfilled the requirements of the purge, the judge will vacate the contempt charge. If the obligor has not complied with the purge requirement, the judge can issue 30, 60 or 90 days in jail, depending on the original agreement. If the obligor does not show for the Motion to Execute Sentence hearing, a warrant for his/her arrest will be issued.

Please be advised that although the obligor may file bankruptcy, this does not excuse his/her child support obligations including arrears, and enforcement can begin once the bankruptcy action has been discharged through the court.

Paying your Child Support

Paying support is quick and easy at the Ohio Child Support Payment Central (OCSPC) internet payment website, <https://oh.smartchildsupport.com>. Payments can be made by bank account or credit card. Transactions are fast and easy and payment confirmations are provided for your records.

Payments are also accepted at the local CSEA in the form of check, money order, credit card, or debit card. Cash payments can be made at Lucas County Juvenile Court or the Lucas County Treasurer's Office.

Receiving your Child Support

Receiving your child support is fast, simple, and safe using SMART e-Pay. You can sign up for a SmiOne Card or Direct Deposit by visiting <https://oh.smartchildsupport.com/Cp>.

What can the court do if no support is being paid?

The Ohio Revised Code provides for the criminal prosecution of any person who abandons or fails to provide adequate support for their child or children under the age of eighteen. All enforcement actions need to be taken before we can pursue criminal non-support. In certain cases, criminal non-support actions can be an effective way to deal with absent parents who could pay support but are not doing so.

- A criminal non-support action may be filed either as a misdemeanor or a felony offense.
- The level for a criminal non-support action is beyond a reasonable doubt. This means that the prosecutor must be able to see a high level of evidence of the identity of the absent parent/defendant, the absent parent/defendant's ability to pay the amount of support ordered and the lack of payments made.
- The case will be filed in the county where the custodial parent and the child or children reside.

For Employers

General Information

Millions of children in the United States live in single parent households. Too often, the non-custodial parent is not fulfilling a legal obligation to provide health insurance. As a result, many children go without health care or must rely on the State's Medicaid program. Yet, many defaulting parents are employed and able to provide health insurance coverage. One step toward solving this problem is the recognition that child support is a partnership.

As an employer, your role in facilitating access to available medical coverage, for these children, is invaluable. Your efforts, together with the health plan administrators and the local CSEA will enable children to receive the coverage to which they are entitled.

Ohio's Child Support Program

Ohio's Child Support Program is administered by the Ohio Department of Job and Family Services, Office of Child Support. The county CSEA is responsible for establishing and enforcing health insurance orders for child support cases when coverage is available and reasonable or expected to become available. Children who might not otherwise be covered under a medical insurance plan can get the medical attention once they receive the medical support from your employee.

Employer's Roles & Responsibilities

Since 1987, employers have been a vital part of Ohio's success in increasing child support collections through income withholding. Almost three-quarters of the $1.9 billion collected by Ohio's child support program each year is received through income withholding.

Employers have four basic responsibilities in the child support operation. They are:

- Reporting new hires and responding to employment verification requests
- Withholding income and premiums for medical insurance
- Sending payments to Ohio Child Support Payment Central (OCSPC)
- Reporting employment terminations with existing orders

These areas are covered in subsequent sections of this site. The continued cooperation of Ohio employers in withholding wages and medical premiums pursuant to child support orders, as well as reporting newly hired employees, will go a long way toward supporting Ohio's and the nation's children.

Companies needing to upgrade the skills of their current workforce may be eligible to receive funding assistance to offset training costs as well.

Leveraging strong relationships with other regional economic development partners, LCDWD can also refer businesses to groups who can provide incentive programs and financial assistance related to business development.

The Shared Work Ohio program helps prevent layoffs by allowing employers to uniformly reduce affected employees' hours by 10 to 50 percent while permitting the employees to receive a prorated unemployment benefit. Workers to be included in this program must meet certain requirements set by the State of Ohio.

For those companies facing reductions in workforce or other lay-off activities, LCDWD and OMJLC can assist with intermediate activities designed to assist employees through the process. Working with the employer, lay-off aversion strategies are evaluated but if the reduction cannot be avoided, staff will meet with the impacted workers to make sure they are aware of the vast services available to them.
